Database crash support

“Sometimes our SQL customers tell us they don’t think they need highly skilled expertise to run their database systems, until something goes wrong,” noted Terry Mays, Manager of the MDBA team. “With MDBA for SQL Server, BravePoint professionals monitor, tune, and repair databases remotely, ensuring no interruption to the daily operation of the business – even when a potential hardware, software or connectivity crisis is underway,” remarked Mays.

“I don’t think of Managed DBA as a service, so much as I do a relationship with BravePoint,” said Roland Carlson of Micrel. “If I have something I don’t understand, or I have a problem that needs immediate attention, I can call BravePoint and it’s taken care of any time, day or night.”
